

With Josh and his special story, your next fundraiser will be more than O.K.

Seldom does the bond between animal and human serve such an important purpose as in this story told through the words of a playful, friendly Golden Retriever dog who learns he has to have surgery. Children faced with the fear of their own imminent hospitalization will take comfort in identifying with their friend "Josh" in this uplifting tale of courage, love and hope.

Written by a veterinarian of over 35 years and delightfully illustrated by an artist and mom, "I'll Be O.K." is a warm, delightful journey all children will enjoy.

Your organization can benefit from sharing this unique product in several ways:

- ◆ Invaluable public relations depicting your organization as compassionate, socially responsible and family oriented.
- ◆ Share in the satisfaction of helping individual children through a difficult time.
- ◆ Helps encourage organization members to become engaged in their community.
- ◆ Unifies members in the organization to work as a team to benefit children.

Be a part of this unique children's project – promoting the medical Josh Kit and the GI Josh Kit, both designed to make children's lives better.

"When we think of Josh, we think of child wellness."
